Q. What is governance? How e-governance is different from e-government? [150 words]

Ans) Governance is basically a process that is directed towards public welfare. It is usually a collabrative affair that involves the participation of various entities. Governance is based on the concept of minimum govern^{ment}ance and maximum governance. It focusses on inclusive growth. The concept of governance was first introduced by IMF and WB.

E governance and E government although sound similar but they are ~~two~~ having some different ~~concepts~~ concepts. E governance is a successful approach as it has very effective manifestations such as Digital India, Umang etc. However, E-government has greater establishment-cost and till now it is not successful in its many attempts such as conducting electronic polls.
