

UNIQUE IAS STUDY CIRCLE

UPSC Q.C.A Vishal Ratna

Q. Explain how ethics contribute for human being?

Ans.

Ethics is known as moral philosophy that means ethics helps us to clarify between the right and the wrong conduct. The life of a human being totally depends on its morals and ethics. Each and everything a human learns sets his ethical values from the time of its birth. Ethics help us to deal with the social life among the people. In our society, a person is always known by his ethical values like his patience, positive mind set, behaviour towards people, animals etc. All these values create a human and clarify his acts clarify the moral values whether he is of good kind or a bad one.

14.5 CM

Similarly, different people have different ethical values which are set according to the environment around him them.

26.5 CM

These values may change a person totally and his views regarding the issues in the society also changes respectively.

The ethical values are the road map for the human beings as it leads to the right or wrong outcomes depending upon the circumstances.

UNIQUE IAS STUDY CIRCLE
UPSC Q.C.A

Ethics play a major role in the contribution for the human beings as the vision of a human in believing the myths and ~~also~~ realities differ just because of different ethical values. Thus good ethics leads to good mankind.

Good

3/4/18