

UNIQUE IAS STUDY CIRCLE

UPSC Q.C.A

Vishal Khatnani

Ethics.

Q Law and ethics are two tools of controlling human conduct? Analyze!

Ans:-

Law and ethics both are the editing tools of human conduct. Ethics is necessary for every human whereas laws are there to regulate these good and bad ethics. There are number of humans on this planet, some follow good ethical values and some follow the bad ethical values. And to control such people or human with bad ethical values, there is a need of law. Bad ethics will lead a human into the negative side of this world like being a criminal, working out on illegal projects etc.

14.5 CM

Human conduct is totally based on the ethical values he/she follows. A human can be strongly controlled by the laws and ethics. As, if a human conduct are bad, laws are made to punish him and correct his values. Laws regulate and control the humans from false things, which directly or indirectly controls the human conduct. Punishments which are set up by the laws result in the well being of human. Thus, it further guides them for working on and carry forward with good ethical values.

26.5 CM

UNIQUE IAS STUDY CIRCLE

UPSC Q.C.A

The law making bodies enact the laws for the welfare of the citizens of our country. Since these laws indirectly affects the growth of nation and so laws acts towards the betterment of these people. People with the good ethics come out to be the good citizen as well and so they coordinate in the development of the country.

Thus, law and ethics play a major role in forming up the good human conduct & leads to humanity.

Govt

14.5 CM