

Ans

India is a vast country having diversity but there are certain internal security threats in India which can disturb the peace & harmony of the nation. The various internal security threats are :-

In all the above threats, there can be a role of state & non-state actors. Further, there can be various NGOs & civil society who, in case of insurgency, terrorism can provoke the innocent & unemployed youth of the nation.

Therefore, a strong mechanism is required to cope up with this challenges:-

- ① To fight with insurgencies & terrorist activities, the paramilitary forces are deployed but the root cause of these problems is the youth. So, youth in these areas should be provided ample educational opportunities with Industrial skills.

- ② To cope up with cyber attacks, a strong mechanism of Cyber Police should be established. Work on cyber Infrastructure need to be enhanced.
- ③ With fake currencies circulating in the nation, the agency in charge is ED but use of technology should also be taken. There should be certain mechanisms developed which can give information about fake currency.
- ④ Drug Trafficking is one of the major challenge & the Institution which looks after these matters in India ~~are~~ is Narcotics Board.
