

Matters needed to be resolved between India and Nepal. Comment.

Nepal is India's Neighbour and they both have enjoyed friendly relations since decades, but albeit recent scenario is somewhat disharmonious. The relations enjoyed are now seemed to be deteriorating whether they are India's go-slow policy or Nepal's growing inclination towards China, some matters which are in favour of both the nations need to be handled in order to achieve a balance.

The problem of Madhesi and their stand in Nepal is what that has most affected the relation. Times when India has tried to prove its presence in Nepal and Nepal has seek help from China has only proved negative for India. Both sides can come up for a solution to that there is no unrest in any way. Instead of it.

Instead of being stubborn about getting its private players in hydroelectricity, India should just see its benefits in electricity discharge otherwise the growing pressure of China will be only be piped out like that in Myanmar. Matters like Kosi Barrage floods are what needed to solved rapidly cause it not a matter of political importance but of life of more than thousand people on both sides which can not be taken lightly.

At last, the handling of terrorism and trafficking is what requires most active action because at last it is not what business or money that suffers but human life. Borden as what ^{not} we build, walls are what we build but they should ^{not} be necessarily in our minds and soul.

Excellent!

- PRAGYA VISHWAKARMA