

Q "The rising of minimum marriageable age for girls from 18 to 21 years will be milestone for women's empowerment".

A The Prohibition of child marriage Act, 2006 and other personal law the legal age of women marriage will be raised from 18 to 21 years.

The rising marriage age from 18 to 21 will help in women empowerment as it will help to build career for their stable future. They will be able to pursue further education.

Increment in marriage age is also lead to equality of both genders as it was not applicable to for boys and girls before.

women will be able to get mature by the age of 21 so as to take independent and correct decisions for their welfare.

Concluding all of the above, rising the marriageable age of women from 18 to 21 will help them grow in all over.
